

A black and white line drawing of a complex maze. The maze is composed of thick black lines forming a series of interconnected paths and dead ends. The layout is roughly rectangular, with a central horizontal corridor that branches out into several smaller paths. The paths are of varying lengths and widths, creating a challenging navigation puzzle. The overall design is minimalist, using only black lines on a white background.

[illegible]